Fan-Sash Making.

METAL FAN-SASHES, of various descriptions, will be made by the subscriber, at his shop, lower end of Duke street. The want of a Metal Fan-Sash Manufactory in Alexandria, has hitherto been severely felt by builders and others, who have been compelled to make use of wood, which is neither elegant nor durable. The various forms into which the metal can be shaped have given it a decided superiority, and the difference in the price is very trifling. The subscriber has been at considerable expence in procuring the necessary preparations, and relies on public enterprise for success in the undertaking.
Gentlemen in the country, by sending the dimensions of their sashes, can have them made at the same price as if in town.

Proposals

FOR Publishing by Subscription, and now ready for the press, a series of historical volumes, which when finished will assume the title of

Universal History Americanised;

Or, an historical view of Europe, Asia, Africa and America, from the earliest records to the nineteenth century—with a particular reference to the state of society, literature, religion, and form of government in the United States of America.
BY DAVID RAMSAY, M. D.

"Life is so short and time so valuable, that it were happy for us if all great works were reduced to their quintessence." Sir William Jones.

PROSPECTUS.

ASIA.

The Asiatic part of this work contains a general view of the antediluvians—of the general deluge—of the re-settlement of the Globe after that great event—of the primitive postdiluvian nations which were formed in Asia, the cradle of the world. Their various ramifications, revolutions, and of the general course of Empire.

AFRICA.

The African part, contains a concise history of Egypt, Carthage, Numidia, Mauritania, Abyssinia, of the Piratical States, and the Hottentots, with a grouped view of its uncivilized settlements.

EUROPE.

The European part, contains the history of Greece and Rome, from their origin to their dissolution—of the various nations which were conquered by them—and of the nations by which the Romans themselves were finally conquered, and of the nations which were formed from the fragments of the Roman Empire, and the various revolutions of the latter, together with a view of the nations which never were subjected to the Romans.

AMERICA.

The American part, contains a general history of the Western continent, under the heads of Free, European, and Aboriginal or unconquered America. The first contains a history of the United States, from their first settlement as English Colonies, till the present time.—The second, of all parts dependant on Europe.—And the third, of all that are still owned by the Aborigines.
It is expected that the whole will be comprised in 10 or 12 octavo volumes, of between four and five hundred pages each—to be printed in Philadelphia, on good paper and fair types, for $3 1-3 per volume, in sheep binding, or $4 1-3 Calf Gilt, to be paid for on delivery.

AUTHORITIES.

This work has been in contemplation upwards of 40 years. The project of it was conceived in 1786, on reading the Universal History, then recently edited in 60 volumes, by a society of gentlemen in England. The original idea of extracting the quintessence of that voluminous work, which contained the most complete system of history the world had then seen, has ever since been enlarging and improving by an attentive perusal of the histories written by Robertson, Hume, Gibbon, and other modern authors—of the Asiatic researches—of the works of Sir William Jones, and other learned Orientalists—the publications of intelligent travellers, who, in the course of the last half century have explored almost every region of the Globe. These collectively have thrown a blaze of light on countries comparatively unknown, and on portions, both of ancient and modern history which were confused and obscure at the period when the writers of the Universal History published their work. The arrangement of materials collected from these sources commenced in the year 1780, when, in consequence of the surrender of Charleston to Sir Henry Clinton, the author was suddenly released from a scene of business and sent as a prisoner of war to the British Garrison then in St. Augustine, and there confined for eleven months, without any peculiar employment. Steady progress has been made for the last ten years in correcting and transcribing the work for publication.

UNITED STATES.

The History of the United States is given at full length—that of foreign countries is more or less expended or contracted in proportion to the intrinsic importance of each—its tendency to illustrate portions of Holy Writ—the Greek and Latin Classics—and also in proportion to its connexion with the U. States, or as furnishing useful practical information to its citizens, or as the paternal soil of their ancestors.
The above sketch of the nature and objects of this immense work, which has occupied the attention of the Author for upwards of 40 years, was found among his papers, and is now given to the public in his own words. Since that period, a few chapters have been added by the Reverend SAMUEL STANHOPE SMITH, which brings it down to the close of the last war.
The publication commences with a third impression of the History of the U. States, in three volumes, which is all that has ever appeared. The whole will not be delivered under 15 or 20 months. It is proper to state, that the gentlemen who have the direction of it are neither booksellers nor printers, and receive no pecuniary consideration for their trouble—but are willing to make the necessary advances to carry it into execution provided the sale is warranted by public patronage. The profits arising are to be appropriated for the support and education of his children, four in each son; to them its success is a matter of deep importance.

AND DAILY ADVERTISER.

SATURDAY, MAY 9, 1818.

From the Quarterly Review.

The following extract from the above work we presume would be intereating to our readers at any period, but particularly so when every exertion is making to ascertain whether a North West passage does really exist or not.

[Halifax paper.

Destitute as we consider the 'Relation' of Maldonado, found in the Ambrosian Library of Milan, to be both of 'veracity and authenticity,' we are by no means inclined to suppose that such a voyage as it describes is impracticable. We firmly believe on the contrary, that a navigable passage from the Atlantic to the Pacific round the northern coast of America does exist, and may be of no difficult execution. Why, then, it may be asked, have all the attempts made at different times, from both sides the continent of America, failed? Because not one of them was ever made near that part of the coast of America, round which it is most likely the passage would lead into the frozen or northern ocean. To prove this we must take a glance at what has been done; and if our readers should feel that pride and pleasure, which we do, in reviewing the daring enterprizes and the perilous and persevering efforts, of our early navigators in the frozen regions of the north, they will not deem a brief survey of them tedious or misplaced—"Resolute, gallant, glorious attempts!" exclaims that quaint but delightful old writer of the Pilgrimage.—

"How," continues he, "shall I admire your heroic courage, ye marine worthies, beyond all names of worthies, and that neyther dread so long eyther presence or absence of the sunne; nor those foggy mists, tempestuous winds, cold blasts, snowes and hayle in the ayre: nor the unequal seas which might amaze the bearer and amate the beholder, where the Triton's and Neptune's selle would quake with chilling feare, to behold such monstrous icie islands, rending themselves with terrour of their owne massines, and disdayning otherwise both the seas sovereigntie, and the sunne's hottest violence, mustering themselves in those watery plaines where they hold a continual civil warre, and rushing one upon another, make windes and waves give backe, seeming to rent the eares of others, while they rent themselves with crashing and splitting their congealed armours."

The flourishing commerce of the Portuguese and Spaniards in the Indian seas stimulated the merchants of England to a participation in that great source of wealth, by the discovery of a passage that would shorten the voyage to India and China to less than half the distance of that round the Cape of Good Hope or Cape Horn. Such a passage was, in fact, supposed to have been made by Caspar de Cortereal, a Portuguese of some rank, in the year 1500. He touched at Newfoundland, passed over Terre Verde, afterwards called Terra de Cortereal, and gave to the southern part of it, which was fit for cultivation, the name of Terra de Labrador. Then coasting to the northward and opening out a wide passage, now called Hudson's Strait, he concluded he had discovered the so much desired passage round America, which he is said to have named the strait of Anian; not however, as we conceive, "in honor of two brothers who accompanied him," but because he deemed it to be the eastern extremity of a strait, whose western end opening into the Pacific, had already received that name.—He hastened back to Portugal to communicate the agreeable intelligence, and was sent the following year to complete the discovery, but was never heard of more; and his brother Michael de Cortereal, who afterwards went in search of him, shared the same fate.

The first Englishman who undertook the discovery of a north west passage to China was Mr. (afterwards Sir Martin) Frobisher. He left England in the middle of July, 1576, with two small vessels and pinnace, the largest only 25 tons; and proceeding to the entrance of a supposed strait in lat. 63, 10 N. he returned to Harwich on the 2d October, bringing back from an island on the coast of Greenland one of the savages and some bright stones. The wife of one of the adventurers threw one of these stone accidentally into the fire, and having quenched it with vinegar, "it glistened with a bright marquiset of gold." The following year Frobisher anchored on the west coast of Greenland where the "stone be altogether sparkled, and glisten in the sun like gold." One of his people found the horn of a sea unicorn, into which some spiders being put immediately died; and "these spiders," we are told, as many affirm, are signs of great store of gold." They also caught two women, one of whom was so ugly that the sailors suspected her to be the devil, and would not be convinced of the contrary until they had stripped off her skin boots to see whether she had a cloven foot. Queen Elizabeth, it seems, was so much satisfied with the report of this voyage that Forbisher was sent out for the third time, the following year, to take possession of Meta incognitia (Greenland) with 15 ships and 120 settlers; but the ice opposing their passage through the strait, and the season being far more advanced, they contented themselves with taking on board a large quantity of the "glistening stones," and returned to England.

The stones, we suppose, turned out to be pieces of that beautiful irridescent spar known by the name of Labrador spar.

The unfavorable result of Frobisher's third expedition seems for a while to have cast a damp on the spirit of enterprise in this quarter; which, however, was revived in 1583, when some noble men and gentlemen formed an association for effecting the discovery of the north west passage, and John Davis, of Sandridge in Devonshire, was engaged to conduct the expedition. He left England with two ships, passed the south point of Greenland on the 20th July, to which, from its horrid appearance, he gave the name of the "Land of Desolation," then steered N. W. and making the land on the 6th August, in lat. 66° 40 N. he gave to a high mountain "glittering like gold," the name of "Mount Raleigh." Having doubled the south cape of this island, which he named "Cape of God's Mercy," he proceeded up a strait (Cumberland Strait of modern charts) 20 leagues wide, to the distance of 60 leagues, when adverse winds and tides obliged him to return. In 1586 Davis was again sent with four ships, but made no discoveries of importance, and reached not beyond his former latitude. On his third voyage, in 1587, he was more successful, having proceeded along the west coast of Greenland to the latitude of 72° 12 N. He then steered a westerly course towards the continent of America, but being opposed by fields and mountains of ice, which alarmed his people, he coasted to the southward along the same land he had discovered on his first voyage—saw Lumley's Inlet, between 62 and 63°, and returned to Dartmouth by the 15th September. In his short letter to Mr. Saunderson, the great promoter of the undertaking, he says, "I have been in 73°, finding the sea all open, the passage most probable, the execution easy."

The failure of Davis, however, put an end to any further attempt in that century; and in 1591, Sir James Lancaster was sent with five ships, by the usual but circuitous route of the Cape of Good Hope. This officer, or some person for him, having added to one of his letters a postcript, in which he says, "the passage to the Indies is in the N W of America, in 62deg. 23 N" the report of it once more revived the question; and, in 1602, Captain Waymouth left England with two flyboats in search of the north west passage. He succeeded in passing all the straits, and in reaching the latitude of 63° 55 N on the coast of America (about Marble Island;) but here his crew mutinied, which obliged him to return to England. Knight and Hall, in 1606 and 1607, lost their lives in a scuffle with the natives before they had made any discovery of importance.

From a London paper.

The sailing of the expedition for discovering the North Pole, and the Northern Passage between the Atlantic and the Pacific Ocean, has been deferred for some days longer. Lord Melville visits the ships this day at Deptford, for the purpose of inspecting their condition, and the efficiency of their preparations. His Lordship will be entertained by witnessing the activity and courage of the Esquimaux, who goes out with the expedition as interpreter, in case of any communication with the coasts of Davis's Strait. This Indian has his canoe on board, with his fishing apparatus. He is not tall, but his form, though clumsy, denotes great strength. His face is clear and fair, and being dressed like an English sailor, and working with the other men, he might at first view, be mistaken for a native of these Islands; but his features are large, and the breadth and flatness of his countenance betray his origin.

The officers of the expedition seem quite confident that the Dorothea and the Trent, under the command of captain Buchan, destined for the discovery of the North Pole, will attain their objects;—but they are by no means equally sanguine of the success of the Isabella and the Alexander, under capt Ross, who is instructed to attempt the passage of Davis's Strait. As the ultimate success of the expedition must necessarily depend upon the subordination and discipline of the men, the crew of the vessels are placed under martial law; but as the men are all volunteers, and are provided with every advantage which the most anxious solicitude for their comfort and safety can afford, we trust that no occasion will arise for enforcing the strictness of its provisions.

Many of the hail stones in the late storm measure two inches and a half in circumference, they lay on the ground to the depth of six inches; but near hedges and in low places they were three feet in depth. [London paper.

ALEXANDRIA:
SATURDAY, MAY 9, 1818.

We are concerned to state that nearly all the floats (rafts with plank, scantling, &c.) that had collected during the winter on either bank of the Susquehannah, extending nearly to the Lakes, with between 5 to 6 millions feet, valued at 90 to 100,000 dollars, after braving the descent of the different Falls, etc. in coming down the current on their way to this market, unfortunately encountered the N. W gale of Sunday evening and Monday, and were driven from their anchorage near North Point, immediately across the bay to Swan Point and the neighborhood—several of them met a similar fate at the head of the bay, and were brought up at Turkey Point—of the number engaged in navigating them (about 50) we have not heard of a single life being lost. MORE "SPECKS OF WAR."

The following article is from the Detroit Gazette of the 3d ultimo:

"Mr. Collins and party, who in Dec. last left this place, with shoes, &c. for the troops at Chicago and Green Bay, returned on Monday last, having suffered much from the severity of the weather and great depth of snow—several of his pack horses died on the way. He informs that the war belt had passed thro' the Winnebago, Sack, Fox, and Kickapoo nations. On his return, about 180 miles from Green Bay, he met 15 chiefs of these tribes, as messengers to others. The mercury at Green Bay had been during the winter 35 degrees below Zero."

We presume these movements of the northern tribes have grown out of those of the south. The spirit of the Seminoles has breathed itself into their bosoms—There is little doubt that as soon as the discomfiture of the Seminoles is known to them, the northern tribes will lay aside the war belt.

Philadelphia, May 2.

The following are extracts of letters which we have received from our correspondent at St. Thomas's. They give the news at that Island as it was received day after day, until the 9th of April.

[Dem. Press.

St. Thomas, April 1.

Arrived, a schooner from Cumana, and brings news, that the Independent general Marino attacked Carupano (to windward of Cumana) with his army, but was defeated with the loss of several hundred men; it is said his private baggage fell into the hands of the Royalists, and his hat, and uniform, &c. were brought by said vessel to this port and are now on board.

April 4.

Arrived a schooner from Porto Cavello, with a paper signed "Noticia sin exegeration," (notice without exaggeration) stating that gen. Morillo, on the 18th March, near Villa de Cura (two days march from the city of Caraccas) attacked with 4000 regulars, the Independents under Bolivar—about 4,500 men, infantry, and 1,500 cavalry, and totally defeated them, and took 7000 head of cattle, Bolivar's secretary, &c. and states it was by some said that Bolivar is wounded, and others, that he is killed.

April 6.

Arrived, a schooner from Laguira, the captain of which informs, that on the 18th March, a battle was fought near Villa de Cura; in which Bolivar was defeated with the loss of 500 men—his papers, baggage, &c. confirms the account that gen. Marino was defeated at the attack he made with his detachment, consisting of about 600 men, on Carupano.

I leave it you to believe of the foregoing as much as you may think proper, I have conversed with many people here about the Independents of Venezuela, and am strengthened in my opinion, that the Spaniards will lose these beautiful provinces, and that the colored people will finally get possession of them and their government.

April 7.

It is confidently reported here that Admiral Bryon is arrested by Bolivar, and will probably lose his head. A great many adventurers from Europe, such as formerly fought in the Peninsula for the re-establishment of Ferdinand, &c. and the deliverance of France from Bonaparte, have joined Bolivar to assist him to deliver Venezuela from Ferdinand—(thus the world goes)

April 9.

This morning arrived a schooner from Laguira with the official account of the affair with the Royalists at Villa de Cura—the Independents are stated to have been 1500 cavalry and 200 infantry; that they lost 400 men in dead and wounded, besides a number of prisoners coming in momentarily. Morillo says in the official account in a Gazette of Caraccas, under date of the 27th ult. that several of his officers are wounded, and an English colonel Donnel killed. From Portobello the last accounts state that the Independents in the South Seas have landed within the territories of Panama, and have done great damage to the Royalists.

P. S. An American frigate it is said has been seen off the south side of St. Domingo.

From the N. Y. Com. Adver. May 4.

SHIPWRECK.

By the arrival this morning, of the brig Bordeaux, Capt. Putnam, in 27 days from Bordeaux, we have received the following account of the loss of schooner Ann & Mary of Richmond, Virginia:

The Ann and Mary, sailed from Richmond on the 27th of January, bound to Bordeaux. Experienced severe gales during most of the passage. On the 7th March, at 2 o'clock A. M. saw the Cordovan light house, bearing E. S. E. About half past eight, A. M. the schooner struck with great violence. In about 15 minutes the rudder unshipped and the vessel was rendered totally unmanageable, and the water made a complete breach over her. In this situation they were favored by a rapid flowing in of the tide; in consequence of which the schooner was carried by the breakers over a reef of rocks in four fathoms water. They let go their best bower and let out nearly the whole cable, which brought her up for some time, when the cable parted. They then let go the small bower, but the vessel drifting towards the light, they cut the cable, in the hope of her drifting to windward of a large rock, situated on their starboard quarter, and fetching a large sand shoal lying S. E. from the light house; in which they were fortunately not disappointed. About 3 o'clock, P. M. the upper decks separated, and her cargo began to issue out of the larboard quarter, and finally as far forward as the fore-rigging to windward, and was washed across the deck, which had by this time got a considerable slew from the bottom. Shortly after, the quarter deck was separated from the main deck, and they were left with a small portion of the vessel.—In this perilous situation, they remained with the sea continually breaking over them, until the one forth ebb, when the tide setting in very fast, they were enabled at 10 P. M. to leave the wreck, and made to the Cordovan light house without saving even her papers, or any clothing excepting the few things they had on. They were received and entertained with kindness by the people on shore.

MUTINY.

The editors of the N. Y Gaz. are indebted to their Boston correspondent, Mr. TOPLIFF, for the following particulars on board the schooner Penguin, Capt. Taylor, of New-York, on the 9th of February on her passage from Gibraltar to St. Salvador—furnished by one of the crew, not concerned, arrived at Boston in the brig Spartan—extracted from the log book of the Penguin.

Sunday, February 9, nothing occurred till 12, P. M. when the watch was called, it being the captain's intention to tack ship at that time. He went on deck for that purpose, and just as he had got abreast the main-mast, to see all the things clear, and the men at their proper stations, he was struck with a handspike by John Maxwell, one of the crew; as he seized M. by the collar, he received two sabre strokes across the head, given by John Roberts and Malcom Patson, two of the crew; the captain then cried out mutiny, and sprung from the companion way, but he was met there by John Frazier, another of the crew, who gave him another blow with a sabre; at the same time he received two or three blows across the back and shoulders with handspikes. He however jumped through the sky light into the cabin, and seized his pistols. By this time the mate and passengers hearing the noise, sprang from their births to assist the captain; but the cabin doors and sky light being immediately closed by the mutineers, prevented their gaining the deck. They then demanded our fire arms, which were one pair of pistols and one carbine, with assurances that no person on board should be injured, but were refused; they then wished to speak with one of us on deck, at the same time making solemn promises that he should not be hurt. It was thought advisable to let the mate go, for the purpose of attempting a reconciliation; but he was no sooner on deck, than he was seized by the ruffians, bound, and thrown into the forecastle. We were then satisfied that their intention was to weaken our force in the cabin, take it by assault, secure the money, murder all, then run the vessel on shore, and make off in the boats. The captain and two passengers, and the steward, one man and a boy, who had made their way from the steerage to the cabin during the noise and tumult, were determined to defend themselves to the last. They made several demands for the fire arms during the night, and were as often answered, that we could have no doubt as to their intentions, as they were steering directly for the Bocas Keys, and should defend ourselves to the last. They swore they would have them; we therefore kept them in our hands, expecting every moment the attack. Fortunately for us, the attempt was not made, as they could have attacked us from three points at once, the companion way, sky light, and steerage, and must inevitably have been taken. At day light, they again demanded the arms, with a threat that they would not allow us any provisions or water, and that we should be suffocated with heat and thirst; which threat could have been put into execution in a short time, as they had the command of those articles. It was finally concluded to try to come to some terms with the mutineers for the purpose of saving our lives, (as we were then in a suffocating state,) as well as the vessel, and as much of the cargo as possible, $10,000 of which was in specie, and that we were satisfied was the principal aim of those ruffians. He accordingly commenced by representing to them the dreadful consequences of such a horrid outrage, and the probability of their falling in with some of the cruisers of different nations, either of which would take them into the first port, and deliver them into the hands of justice. This appeared to have some influence upon them; they held a long consultation, & at length said, if we would give them our arms, powder and money, they would take the long boat and leave the vessel, which we promptly refused to do. Things remained in this situation till 9 A. M. when they finally agreed to take $700 and the long boat, if we would give them a discharge, dated at St Salvador 4 days in advance, and concluded with an oath, that should be the only terms they would accept of on which they would leave the vessel.—As they were still standing for the Bocas Keys, and not 4 degrees from them, and not doubting but it was their intention to run the vessel ashore, it was thought most advisable to give them the $700 to save the rest, (the vessel and our lives) as all must have been lost, should that have been the case. Accordingly at 11 o'clock, they having got the long boat out and told us they were ready to depart, the money was passed up to them, together with their separate discharges; and as they had got every thing into the boat, and the sail hoisted, the two big guns spiked, the sails aback, and the vessel all in confusion, before the guard left the companion way; it was impossible to prepare ourselves to fire at them, or run them down, before they got out of our reach; on coming on deck, we found two of the crew, the cook and an apprentice boy to the captain, who had refused to join them, although they had been compelled by the mutineers to assist in working the vessel while in their possession. This circumstance however, was until then unknown to us; and on further examination, we found they had taken from the vessel, rigging, sails, water, beef, fish, molasses, and a number of other articles, three cases raisins of the cargo, &c. The names of those concerned in the mutiny, and who left the vessel in this situation, are as follows—John Maxwell, John Johnson, John Roberts, Magnus Winship, Malcom Patton, seamen; Walter Bray, carpenter; John Frazer, cooper.

In addition I have to state, that the above mutineers arrived at Pernambuco, were apprehended and confined, and will no doubt receive the punishment they so richly deserve.

They are also of infinite service to those in the seafaring line, who make long voyages at sea, and are exposed to unhealthy climates; a preventive against contagious disorders—they are also a very pleasant bitter and are particularly recommended for the use of Taverns and Public houses, as well as private families.

French Creek Boarding School.

The following is published for the information of Parents:

HAVING long believed that a School on a plan different from most others in many respects, would be beneficial to society, and apprehending that with all its cares, and the responsibility inseparable from such a concern, I could more cheerfully devote my time to the education of children than to any other business, I have concluded to establish a BOARDING SCHOOL for GIRLS.—With this view I have purchased the FARROW CREEK FARM, four miles east of the yellow springs, on the Norristown and Philadelphia road, situated in Pikeland and Vincent townships, Chester county, twenty-seven miles from Philadelphia, combining many conveniencies for the support of such an institution; and having let the farm, etc. in a way calculated to supply the family with provisions, I propose to devote my attention, with the aid of suitable assistants, to the education of the children who may be placed under my care.

In selecting the pupils, it is not proposed to be governed entirely by their ages, nor to require that they shall all be members of the religious society of Friends; but as the school rules will be very few in number and very simple, it is my wish that none may be sent contrary to their own inclination, nor any one who would not be likely to be good examples to the other scholars, and treat them with kindness and affection.

The price for board and tuition will be two hundred Dollars per annum, one quarter always to be paid in advance—no restrictions respecting the kind of clothing are intended, nor respecting the frequency of the changes that parents may require; the washing will be charged at the ordinary price per dozen—children may be admitted for one quarter only, and such as are entered for a longer period, may nevertheless be removed at the expiration of any quarter.—The communication with Philadelphia will be frequent and easy by stage, and a house of entertainment kept by the farmer for the accommodation of persons having business at the school.

Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, English Grammar, Geography and the use of Maps and globes, will be taught, together with such other branches as the progress of the children and experience may render expedient. The school to open the first of the 5th month next. For further information apply to Edward Stabler, Alexandria, or to Valuable Family Medicines.

JUST received, direct from the proprietors, the following valuable MEDICINES, all of which have been in use for a number of years past, in almost every part of the United States; have been highly patronized by people of the first respectability; and approved by those who have had occasion to make use of them, for the cure of those disorders for which they are severally calculated.

Dr. Lee's Genuine (Windham) Bilious Pills,

Universally known and used throughout the United States as a family medicine. The fame of these pills has become so great, that many have attempted to counterfeit them—to guard against this, the proprietors have procured a stereotype label, and each box of Genuine Lee's Pills will hereafter be enclosed in one of these labels, with these words on the sides: "Lee's Genuine Windham Bilious Pills," and on the end of the label the words, "Samuel Lee, patentee, &c. I. Thompson, agent, joint proprietor," &c. and should any be offered for sale without said label on them the purchaser may be apprised that they are counterfeit.

Dr. Thompson's celebrated Eye Water,

For the cure of inflamed and sore eyes of almost every description. This valuable preparation comes highly recommended from the most respectable sources.—Price 50 and 25 cents a bottle.

Dr. Rawson's Genuine Itch Ointment,

A certain and safe cure for that disagreeable complaint, as well as other irruptions of the skin. Price 37½ cents a box.

Dr. Rawson's Anti-Bilious and Stomachic Bitters,

For weakly and infirm constitutions. Price 37½ cents a box.

Hinckley's Infallible Remedy for the Piles,

A most valuable medicine. Price 50 cents a box.

Thompson's Aromatic Tooth Paste,

Specific Drops for the Tooth Ache,

Which, in almost every case, gives instant relief in that distressing complaint. Price 37½ cents a bottle.

Cooley's Vegetable Elixir, for Coughs, Asthmas, Consumptions, &c.

For sale, in Alexandria, by Dr. Rich'd. H. Little; in Washington City, by Dr. David Ott; in Georgetown, by Dr. John Ott, Otho M. Linthium & Co. and Nathaniel Jewitt.

James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE'S MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN'S ANTI BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,
